LEADERSHIP IMPACT FOR MODERN HUMANS

Hey! I'm Jen Buck.

For the last 28 years, Jen Buck has been helping leaders, teams, and organizations create meaningful impact in the moments that matter most. An award-winning keynote speaker, C-Suite veteran, author, and former television host, Jen has delivered over 10,000 presentations and impacted more than one million people worldwide.

Throughout her career, Jen has worked with Fortune 100 companies, global brands, associations, and organizations across industries, helping leaders strengthen culture, elevate engagement, improve client experiences, and drive meaningful behavior change. Her client roster includes organizations such as Google, Coca-Cola, McDonald's, NASA, Mercedes-Benz, Molson Coors, and many others.

Before building her speaking career, Jen spent a decade helping launch and grow an award-winning global startup that became a billion-dollar brand. She later served in executive leadership roles including Chief Operating Officer, Chief of Staff, and Chief Communications Officer, giving her a unique perspective on the challenges facing today's leaders and organizations.

Recognized as one of the Top 100 Speakers to Watch in both 2024 and 2025, Jen is known for creating keynote experiences that go far beyond traditional presentations. Blending neuroscience, storytelling, music, movement, audience participation, and practical application, she transforms passive audiences into active participants and creates the kind of engagement, connection, and energy that modern audiences crave.

At the heart of Jen's work is a simple belief: leadership without impact isn't leadership at all. As technology accelerates and attention becomes increasingly fragmented, Jen helps leaders create the one thing that remains irreplaceable: meaningful human connection. Through her signature message, Leadership Impact for Modern Humans, she equips audiences with practical strategies to build trust, strengthen influence, foster belonging, and create lasting impact in an AI-powered world. Jen doesn't just deliver keynotes. She creates experiences people feel in their bones—and remember after the event ends.

"Jen is a breath of fresh air! She comes from unexpected places with a call to action that is moving and important. What a compelling storyteller!"

- Ginny Clarke, Vice President at Google

WHY I MAKE A BIG IMPACT

"Brain science meets Beyoncé!"

- I blend neuroscience with high-energy delivery to create messages that stick and transform behavior.
- I craft multi-sensory experiences—music, movement, play, engagement—that boost retention and ignite momentum.
- I turn insight into action with simple, practical tools leaders can apply immediately.
- I customize every keynote so audiences feel seen, understood, and inspired to act.
- I elevate the room's energy and create moments that drive lasting impact.

"Jen is always at the top of her vocation, a great partner to work with and just a joy to be around. I recommend Jen to any of my clients and just wish I could clone her and have about five more to work with! There is no limit to what she can do!"

- Adam Elliott, Senior Training Consultant

TRADITIONAL KEYNOTES WERE BUILT FOR A DIFFERENT ERA.

Today's audiences are different, so speakers must be too.

Attention spans are shorter. Expectations are higher. People are overwhelmed, distracted, digitally saturated, and increasingly hungry for authentic human connection in an AI-powered world.

Yet many keynote experiences haven't evolved to meet them.

THESE ARE IMMERSIVE KEYNOTE EXPERIENCES DESIGNED FOR MODERN AUDIENCES WITH SHORT ATTENTION SPANS AND MASSIVE EXPECTATIONS.

Audiences don't just listen.

They participate.

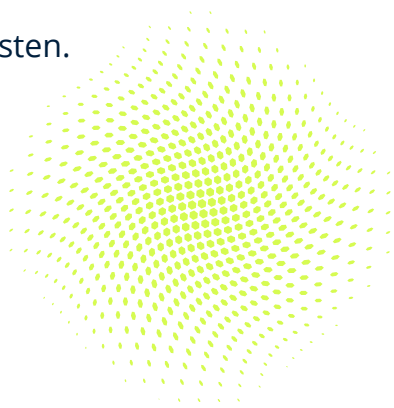

They move.

They laugh.

They sing.

They dance.

They connect.

IN A WORLD WHERE INFORMATION IS EVERYWHERE, IMPACT IS WHAT PEOPLE REMEMBER.

The result is more than inspiration.

It's engagement that lasts beyond the event.

It's connection that strengthens culture.

It's learning that sticks.

It's behavior change that drives impact.

WHY I UNDERSTAND WHAT YOUR EVENT NEEDS

With almost 30 years in Employee Development, I've been on every side of the room — building training programs, producing events, coaching leaders, supporting teams, and partnering with event planners to create experiences that truly land. I know exactly what it takes to deliver a standout event because I've lived the pressure: the rave reviews, the attendee surveys, the demand for fresh content, and the expectation that every speaker must deliver big results.

That's why my keynotes are designed to make your job easier. I understand the psychology of adult learning, the rhythm of an effective event, and the impact that energy, engagement, and actionable content have on an audience. My experience allows me to walk on stage fully prepared, aligned with your objectives, and committed to creating a session that reflects well on you—the planner who made it all happen.

When we partner, you're not just getting a keynote. You're getting almost 30 years of insight, professionalism, and behind-the-scenes understanding that ensures your event stands out, your audience is energized, and the feedback forms glow for your corporate partners.
