

TARA BAZAR

Speaker and Business Owner

Tara is living proof that it is possible to overcome personal and professional challenges to achieve success. She was once petrified to speak in front of an audience, any audience. She overcame that fear and excelled as a keynote speaker and seminar leader.

After traveling the country speaking to thousands of women a week for over a decade Tara moved to Kansas City, MO, where she continued to overcome fears and step into the unknown. Along with her husband she started a successful dental office which she ran and operated for 10 years before selling for a profit and starting a second office from the ground up.

Her degree in psychology helps her daily to climb any mountain and guide others to see their full potential and achieve success.

For more information you can reach Tara at Tarabazar@att.net

