

JEN BUCK

Award-Winning Keynote Speaker,
C-Suite Veteran, 5X Best-selling
Author of 10 Books, Top 100
Speakers To Watch 2024 & 2025

Long Biography

For the last 27 years, Jen Buck has been leading corporate teams around the world, as well as building groups in the nonprofit, civic, and political sectors. She has brought people to the rainforests of El Salvador, the deserts of Mexico, the stark duality of Kenya, and the rich, lush landscapes of Uganda—teaching and experiencing the power of the human spirit when leaders remove themselves from the spotlight and put those around them first. Her work across multiple industries and sectors has solidified her framework for Leadership Impact and the transformative power it holds over individual leaders, teams, organizations, and cultures.

Because of these challenging, heartbreaking, and always life-changing experiences, Jen has developed a distinct perspective on what it takes to build world-class teams—teams that push through limitations, elevate those around them, and succeed as a unit during times of extraordinary challenge and transformation. Jen Buck inspires people to stand strong in the face of adversity, lift others when they're riddled with self-doubt, and ignite a spark of magnetism and synergy that propels them forward. She demonstrates that we can achieve so much more when we're working in unity and committed to the impact.

Jen began the first decade of her career in a startup, helping to launch a billion-dollar, award-winning global brand—all while serving in a leadership development and training role. She understands the demands of fast-paced environments and the pressure they place on individuals to consistently perform at their peak. Her keynotes are powerful, impactful, wildly engaging, and filled with practical, real-world takeaways that drive peak performance and leave a legacy of leadership.

Long Bio

As a C-Suite veteran, Jen has held roles as a Chief Operating Officer, Chief of Staff, Chief Communications Officer, Director, and Founder. She knows what it takes to create Leadership Impact by transforming teams and multiplying their results. She's not just talking about leadership from the stage—she's living it every day.

Known as an inspirational powerhouse in leadership, team building, and creating engagement, Jen's award-winning, game-changing keynotes have earned her recognition as one of 2024 and 2025's Top 100 Speakers to Watch by Motivator Music. She is also the author of five bestselling books and was the host of a television show that aired in 50 countries worldwide. Over the past two+ decades, her keynotes have inspired well over a million people and received rave reviews from user groups, associations, and Fortune 500 companies including Google, Walmart, Boeing, Johnson & Johnson, McDonald's, Mercedes, NASA, Yale, Coca-Cola, Molson Coors, and many more.

Jen's experience leading large, dynamic teams inspires audiences to break free from the routine, strengthen their impact, and boost the engagement and confidence of those around them—so that their teams and organizations can achieve more than they ever imagined. Jen is the expert companies turn to for building world-class teams, inspiring peak performance, and cultivating a culture of extraordinary engagement. She has successfully translated the lessons learned in startup, political, and nonprofit sectors into the corporate world—delivering exciting keynotes that show how everyday leaders can achieve extraordinary results when they're ready to make an impact and put their teams first.

So, get ready! Jen's motivating stories—from boardrooms to rainforests—and her wildly engaging activities (yes, even dancing on stage!) will leave your audiences breathless and inspired to make a lasting impact on every person and process they lead.